WEDNESDAY'S GAME ENDED IN FIGHT

Local Athletics Stayed With Newport for Two Periods and Then Were Lost in Shuffle—General Fight in Third Period.

With the score 37 to 17 in favor of Newport, in the basketball game Wednesday evening, the crowd rushed on the floor when Pat Doyle rushed Stafford and the contest ended in a free-for-all with the Newport players the vortex of a whirlwind maelstrom of humanity, each one eager to get in a wallop at one of the visiting players. It was a case where the crowd had no business butting in but when a fight starts between two players there is not a crowd in the world that will not make a rush to defend the home player whether he started the slugging or not. Up to the last minute the crowd refrained from rushing in although it looked like roughness on the part of the visiting players several times. Doyle showed poor judgment at last by mixing in when he ought to have known what the temper of the crowd was. Stafford himself states that he hit Doyle a stinging blow unintentionally. Doyle naturally resented it and started out to pay it back.

Early in the first period Gion floored Bothwell with a stiff jolt to the neck. Bothwell had the ball and Gion was backing to get it away. It is quite probable the blow was an accident as when a man of Gion's strength lands a short arm jolt it is liable to put the other man away. Gion has a record of being one of the cleanest players in the country and has never been known to start a slugging match. Taking into consideration his past record it is reasonable to believe that he did not intend to slug in the way he did. At any rate it is to be hoped that it was accidental. The crowd showed good sense on this occasion by not mixing in.

The first period was as fast and clean basketball as anyone would care to see and with the exception of the accident between Bothwell and Gion was without a hitch. Bothwell started the scoring with a nice shot and followed it with a moment later with one that rolled all around the rim and then dropped in. McGuigan then started the scoring for Newport and Doyle added another a moment later. Bothwell again put his team on the winner's read with a basket and the Athletics got another point from fouls. Doyle danced out and dropped in a brace just before the period closed, put his team ahead by one point. The second period closed with the score of 8 to 7 in favor of the visitors.

The second period was when the local boys worked. It had been expected that Harding, Doran and Haggerty would be with the local team but at the last moment a telegram was received stating that the three had decided to play elsewhere. On this account the team was made up of local boys with Davey and Bothwell the only men from abroad. The first part of the period the local boys worked some pretty team-work. With a series of short passes the ball was worked down the floor and Stafford dropped it in. Doyle stepped in with one but Davey slipped around the bunch and dropped one in, putting his team ahead. Doyle and Bull then added one for their team and Ellis also added one. The Athletics McGuigan then hoisted the basket as did Stafford. This made the score a tie with 17 all.

The main trouble with the visiting team seemed to be over-confidence in themselves the first two periods but they seemed to have lost this between the second and third. When they took the floor for the third period they realized what it would mean to be beaten by a bunch of kids and started in to do business. As fast as the pace was set it was necessarily rough and when men the size of Doyle and Gion got to moving fast it looks as if something had happened when they collide with a smaller man. The crowd manifested its displeasure several times. Ellis and Bull mixed in with one another in the corner of the hall and the crowd took a hand. Gion was partially disabled and at last the crowd was quieted but not until a large number of blows had been given and received. When the game was again started the visiting team gave an exhibition of passing, blocking and shooting that was perfect. It seemed that they were everywhere and the local boys were unable to locate the ball. Ten baskets were shot in less than half as many minutes and the score stood 37 to 17 in favor of the visitors.

Near the east end of the hall Stafford and Doyle, who had been playing faster than the rest, collided. Stafford's hand met with Doyle's head and then Doyle rushed. With one common movement the crowd made a break for Doyle and for several minutes he was the center of a crowd which was punching and mauling him in all sorts of ways. Aided by his tremendous strength and helped by the jamming of the crowd he managed to make his way to the corner of the hall where with the help of the giant Gion, he held the crowd at bay for a few minutes. And then the crowd cooled down. It was impossible to continue the game under these conditions and Referee Daniels called it off.

Riley and Barracough were the only men on the floor who refused to quarrel with one another. Davey and Ellis played a good game as did Bothwell. Doyle was high man for both teams with seven baskets to his credit. Summary:

LOST TO WASHINGTON GUARDS.

Athletics Overwhelmingly Defeated in Fitchburg Saturday Evening.

The Washington Guards of Fitchburg, Mass., came back at the Athletics in a game Saturday night in that city and won by the score of 47 to 10. The Athletics were unable to locate the basket when they had a chance to shoot and chances were none too frequent. The Guards started with the whistle and kept piling up a score that left the Athletics farther and farther in the rear at every jump.

Ellis, whose season at St. Johnsbury has closed, was with the local boys. Oakes played against the giant Conlon, who has been here and broke even with him on the number of baskets. The summary:

Washington Guards. Athletics.

The Putney town team defeated the Brattleboro Independents in Putney Saturday evening by the score of 42 to 10. Ferriter played with Putney. Putnam dislocated his knee-cap in the second period and was obliged to retire. The accident has kept him in bed ever since and he will not be out for another week. The summary:

Newport, N. H., Issues Challenge.

Owing to the dispute as to which is the leading independent basketball team in New England, due in a measure to the fact that some claimants of the title are unwilling to play games away from home, necessary when a series has been arranged to decide the question of supremacy, the manager of the Newport (N. H.) A. A. team of New Hampshire has issued a challenge through the sporting editor of the Boston Globe to any disputant of the title. He selects the East Boston A. A. team as the strongest factor making such a claim, and would like to arrange a series of games to settle the question of superiority.

The East Boston five defeated the Newport team Feb. 28 by a score of 35 to 21. Now the management of the New Hampshire aggregation desires the second game to be played at Newport, and a third game on a neutral court. To show his good faith he will make a side bet of $100 on each game, with the understanding that both teams use the same men as when they first met.

The challenging aggregation have maintained a good record this season against the strongest teams in New England, only losing to Gloucester and Newport Naval Reserves. Among the teams defeated are Portsmouth, N. H. four times; Washington Guards of Fitchburg twice; Lowell professionals twice; Turners Falls, Brattleboro, Vt., Springfield, Vt., Lakesides of Arlington, Dorchester high alumni and Nashua, N. H. They are willing to defend their claim against any team playing either amateur or professional rules.

"GENTLEMANLY" HAGGERTY.

Springfield, Vt., Sporting Writer Waxes Sarcastic at Brattleboro's Expense.

Says the Springfield Reporter: Brattleboro's "gentlemanly player," Haggerty, was ruled off the floor for slugging in the St. Johnsbury-Brattleboro contest, at the former place this week, and Brattleboro put a man in his place and continued the game. When Brattleboro has to have a man put out of the game twice before they "get wise" shows something very unsportsmanlike in the management and as for Church being a first player we have yet to record one instance of his being disqualified. The only explanation for Brattleboro to persist in "knocking" Church seems to be contained in the following: "Church has every appearance of being a clean player, and the fact that he is always smiling when an opponent starts to rough it, generally provokes his man have admitted that he started the slugging here with Church, and why does Brattleboro take so much pride in telling what a great boxer Haggerty is, and how he made Church's face take on the appearance of raw beef, with three 'trip hammer blows.' Do our neighbors think they are writing of a prize fight? We thought it was basketball until Haggerty made his appearance here. With all teams landing to the skies such as Haggerty, the game would soon be witnessed in the roped arena.

Referee Greene does not seem to be alone in his opinion of Haggerty as a slugger, and to Brattleboro in conclusion we might add, "First, cast the beam out of thine own eye," etc. and after all is said and done, the report of this game in a Brattleboro newspaper has all the appearance of being long distance reporting and has very little truth or facts in it.

WAKE UP, SPRINGFIELD!

And Quit Crying Baby About the Basketball Championship.

It would seem in these enlightened days of telegraphs and newspapers that the news of Brattleboro's winning the Vermont basketball championship would have penetrated every nook and corner of the State of Springfield. Such, however, is not the case and Springfield is laboring under the delusion that its team has won the championship. It's a shame to break that dream but it is our stern duty. Wake up, Springfield! Your pipe is out, your dope is wrong and a change of mixture would be beneficial. Brattleboro has won the championship.

Some "dopsters" from Springfield has figured out that since that team won one game by playing and one by default (?) it is the champion. Brattleboro won two of the games decisively and the third fairly and squarely but for the work of the referee which is too palpable and notorious to need comment. Now Springfield comes forward, claiming the championship by default, without allowing Brattleboro a chance to speak.

It is now too late to talk about a fifth game. The time to have done that was during the season. Not a word was heard at that time, or has been heard yet, about a fifth game. If Springfield had wished to get a try at the championship it would have stood off the aggregation that represented the town on the floor. It would have been better to have relied on shiftness of foot and cunning of hand than upon the machinations of a crooked referee.

The sense of the matter is that

H. S. THINKING BASEBALL.

Need of a Second Team Urged in the School Paper.

It is time now to begin to think about our baseball prospects for the coming season. Already several high schools have written desiring to arrange games with us. Of course, very much cannot be done till the snow gets off the ground, but it would be well to think what sort of show we have in the baseball line.

We have one of the largest high schools in the state and certainly we have enough material to pick from. The athletic association reports enough money in hand to start us off well, so it only remains for us to get busy and turn out one of the best teams in the state. We might as well understand first as last that to play on the team means to be up in our lessons. By doing this a great deal of trouble will be avoided. Take, for instance, last year's football record. Several members of the team could just barely make the team, and about a week before a game was to be played they would drop below the standard and could not play. This led to the cancelling of games and the result was that no satisfaction could be gotten from any quarter.

There should be a second team on the field. This would do more good than any amount of practicing; then, too, there is always a place to get extra men should the first team need substitutes. Some think that just because they can't make the first team that they won't play at all. Such persons lack the right kind of school spirit. They are a little short sighted; they don't realize that to play on the second gives them a chance at the first.

In conclusion, a team to be successful must have the interest and backing of every boy and girl in school. Good attendance helps us out financially and what is more important it shows that the school is interested in the sport. So at the first practise let every man get any idea whatever of baseball be on hand and show what he can do.—High School Dial.

FAST PERFORMERS.

Ten Racing Prospects Quartered at the Bellows Falls Racing Stable.

The interest which Vermont is taking at the present in the matter of breeding fast horses makes the string of blooded animals at L. T. and L. C. Lovell's farm in Bellows Falls of special interest. Few people have any idea of the splendid lot of horses which the Lovells own and the following is written by a well known horse enthusiast who has been visiting all of the big stables in Vermont, including the Lovell farm:

One of the breeding farms of Vermont certain to become prominent is that of L. T. Lovell & Son, L. C. Lovell, proprietors of the Rockingham hotel and stables at Bellows Falls.

For stallions they have Lake King, 40576, by Red Lake, sire of Lake Queen (2:08 1/4), etc., from Henrietta (dam of two), by Damas, 2669; also Carmont, 5023, by Westmont, 2580; dam, Kate Carmac, by Carmac, 397.

The brood mares are Minnie P. (2:10 1/2), Carrie J. (2:12 1/4), May Belle (2:15 1/4), Paulina (2:19 1/2); Chlorina Powers (2:08 1/2); Lady Lovell, by Elegance (2:25 1/4); Ella Wilkes (dam of Marion Boy (2:24 1/4); Daisy Bayard (dam of Ginger Wilkes, 2:16 3/4); Rosemont (dam of three); Maggie (2:19 1/2), and Bessie Bright (dam of Lady Dufferin, 2:23 1/4). This is certainly a rare collection of record and producing mares, all in foal to Lake King, and five of them are nominated in the American Horse Breeder Futurity. L. C. Lovell does a turn at the fall fairs annually, driving his own horses.

The racing prospects in the Lovell stables are the fast mare, Phoebe Patchen (2:29 1/4), by Bourbon Patchen (2:09) out of Maggie Russell (dam of Russell Patchen, 2:13 1/4; Harlan Patchen (3), chestnut colt, brother to Phoebe Patchen; Hazel Haile (4), sister of May Belle, 2:15 1/4; Martean, brown gelding (4), by Carmont; Minnie Directly (3), by Directly (2:03 1/4); dam Minnie P. (2:10 1/2); Rens, bay mare by John W. Porter, son of Aristos; Miss Selmon (3), by Dare Devil, dam Princess-in-Red, by Red Wilkes; dam Daisy Bayard; Lassie (2:21 1/2), and also Lake King, pedigree as given above. These horses will be worked on the farm track. There are also 20 head more of yearlings, 2-year-olds, and 3-year-olds by well known sires.

A good yearling is by Lake King, out of Carrie T. (2:19 1/4).

We saw here one of the finest private libraries of horse literature, owned ed by any horseman of our acquaintance, all the registers, year books, bound files of turf papers, and horse sales, and various works upon the light-harness horse, a veritable mint of information.

Sporting Notes.

Turners Falls toyed with the Springfield (Vt.) basketball team in Turners Falls last Saturday evening, winning by the score of 33 to 8.

Company D of St. Johnsbury closed its season last Friday evening by defeating the East Boston A. A. team by a score of 34 to 27. Bothwell of the Brattleboro Athletics played with St. Johnsbury and was the star for his side, scoring 14 points. "Bucky" Low was obliged to leave the game in the last period on account of a dislocated shoulder.

The seventh annual state tennis tournament will be held on the courts of the Old Pine Golf club at St. Johnsbury during the week beginning Aug. 13. It is expected that the present state champion, Semp Russ of San Antonio, Tex., will be on hand to defend his title to the cup, which will be his own if he succeeds in defeating the challenger, as he has won the tournament the past two years. The present champions in doubles are Joseph Fairbanks and Arthur G. Sprague, both of St. Johnsbury.

There is little prospect that the Northern league will be in existence the coming season. A meeting to discuss baseball was called in Burlington last Friday and although invitations were sent to representatives in Rutland, Montpelier, Barre, Fair Haven, St. Albans, Bellows Falls, Brattleboro and Richmond, Vt., only three delegates were present. They reached the conclusion that a Vermont-Northern-New York league is a dead proposition, although it was suggested that teams representing Burlington, Montpelier and Barre might gain admission to the league which is now being formed by several New Hampshire cities.

SPORTSMEN'S SHOW IN BOSTON.

Exhibition Promises Features of Delight to All Nature Lovers.

The second annual sportsmen's show of the New England Forest and Game Association is set for Easter week and the week following. It is to be given in Mechanics' hall, Huntington avenue, Boston, and the two tremendous halls on the ground floor and the basement of the building will be set for the great collection of exhibits that has been gathered. The hall will be transformed into a woodland, with lakes and brooks running through it. In the great hall, an elaborate scene is to be set on the stage, showing faithfully Mt. Katahdin, one of the largest mountains in New England, and quite the most picturesque. From its foot extends down nearly the full length of the hall, an artificial lake, which will be utilized for showing motor boats and canoes, and for the fly-casting tournament which will be held every afternoon and evening, during the two weeks of the show. The forestry exhibits are particularly elaborate this year, for the government, the state, the national and local forestry associations, are all taking an interest in making exhibits.

A collection of live fish will show specimens that have never been seen in any show before. Full grown sea salmon, in place of the fresh-water and landlocked salmon that have been shown in other shows, form one feature. Supplementary to the fish exhibit is a hatchery for trout in full operation.

In the triangular hall will be "dug" the fly-casting for the live heaver, and the pond for the live water-fowl, and thence the brook will be led across the deer park, where a beautiful herd is to be shown. In fact the collection of fur-bearing animals is large and more varied this year than has ever been attempted in any show. Practically every possible inhabitant of the woods of New England will be in the cages around the hall. The collection of terrestrial game birds has some features that will be worth a long trip to see; for instance, there is a pair of Mongolian pheasants that have come all the way from the far interior of China. These are the birds which have been crossed in England with the ring-necked pheasants and have practically produced a new game bird, by far the most satisfactory of the pheasant tribe that the English have ever known to shoot at. The two largest buffalo bulls left alive are promised by the Corbin estate.

The fly-casting tournament is receiving entries every day; blanks and lists of events may be had by application to R. E. Follett, 314 Pierce Building, Copley square, Boston. There are events in casting and bait-casting, for distance and for form, for novices, amateurs and professionals, and the prizes offered are at once valuable, unique and beautiful.

"Perfected" means built up to the highest, modern ideal.
"Improved" means only modernness patched onto out-of-dateness.
